Brewer Insurance Information Service Offers Series 6 and Series 63 Courses - the First in South Carolina

Certifications are Required by the National Association of Securities Dealers and the North American Securities Administrator Association

Columbia, SC – TBD, 2007 – Brewer Insurance Information Service (BIIS) is pleased to announce its now offering Series 6 and Series 63 training courses. These educational courses are the first to be offered in South Carolina.

About Series 6

BIIS, the recognized leader in Insurance Pre-Licensing Education in the state, is offering a four-day Series 6 classroom course. This certification is required by the National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD) to sell Mutual Funds and Variable Life Insurance contracts. The course is based on BIIS' successful model used for the past 25 years for their Life, Accident and Health and Property, Casualty, Surety and Marine traditional classroom courses. Recognizing their clients' success in using standardized textbook, professional instructor, computer based practice exams and classroom practice tests, BIIS is providing this classroom course to the insurance professional that is looking to broaden their product portfolio.

About Series 63

The Series 63 is a two-day course which provides information on the state regulations for the accompanying Series 6 course. This certification is required by the North American Securities Administrator Association. When the financial representative acquires these two designations they will be able to expand their business by offering a broader array of financial solutions and helping their clients plan and protect the financial future of their clients.
